

ROCHESTER, N. H. HAS $50,000 FIRE

Salinger Block in Central Sq. Badly Damaged

Rochester, N. H., Oct. 6.—Fire which was discovered in the Salinger Block in Central square at 11:20 tonight, caused a loss of about $50,000 before it was extinguished. The blaze was discovered by Edgar Varney, who was attending a dancing party on the third floor. Mr. Varney went into a lavatory and found the partitions burning fiercely. He returned to the dance hall and informed the gathering all of whom left in safety, and afterward the alarm was sounded. The building, which was one of the finest in the city, was four stories in height and was occupied on the street floor by Isadore Salinger and San, dry goods dealers; on the second floor by the Merchants' club; Arthur M. Brock, barber, and on the third by the Peaslee Business College and a dance hall. The fourth floor was unoccupied. The loss in the Salinger store was about $25,000 caused principally by smoke and water; to the Merchants' club and Brock's barber shop $500 and $300 respectively and to the college about $500. The building was damaged to the extent of nearly $25,000. It is believed that the fire was caused by the blowing of the flame from a gas jet against the wall. The building stood on the site of another which was destroyed by fire in August, 1909, and rebuilt. A little more rain for a change. Every other day rain seems to be the order.

$150,000 FIRE IN BROOKLINE

Big Plant of Holtzer-Cabot Electrical Company In Heart of Town Practically Destroyed

Boston, Oct. 6.—A fire that almost destroyed the four story brick factory of the Holtzer, Cabot Electrical company at 9 and 31 Station street, which extended back 125 feet to a garden place in the rear, resulted in a scare in Brookline at midnight and caused Chief George H. Johnson to call on Boston for firemen and apparatus. Discovered at 11:30 on the upper floors of the factory the flames spread with unusual rapidity and in half an hour the two upper floors were destroyed and the flames had made their way into the big four-story brick structure adjoining, which is occupied by the Brookline Storage Warehouse company. Two big four story apartment houses and shop buildings on Washington street occupied by about 50 families were menaced for an hour and the Brookline Station for an hour and the Brookline Station of the Boston and Albany Railroad and a number of frame dwellings in the Marsh section of Brookline where the poorer families of the town reside were seriously menaced. The fire was burning fiercely at 1 o'clock this morning. Charles W. Holtzer, president of the Holtzer, Cabot Electrical, said his building was valued at $75,000 and the machinery was valued at upward of $125,000, while there was many thousands dollars' worth of stock in the building. All of this is nearly covered by insurance. The total loss reached $125,000.

latter place, and their indignation aroused and their patriotism in rebellion at the acts of the prison officials in bribing the Union soldiers to take the oath of allegiance to the Confederate government. The twelve counsellors together, and agreed that if either one of them should take the oath, the others should kill him before he left the stockade. Mr. Collis was later transferred to Wilmington, N. C. next to Goldsboro, and back again to Wilmington, where he was paroled on February 26, 1865, after exchanged and rejoined his command on May 4, following at Alexandria, Va. His regiment had been so decimated that there was but a small remnant. This was consolidated into a battalion of three companies and attached to the Thirty-ninth Massachusetts Regiment. Mr. Collis was subsequently transferred to Company Fifty-sixth Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. Receiving his final discharge in July, 1865, he returned to Palmer and learned the trade of a carpenter and millwright. In 1869 he went to Boston where he remained until 1873. In February of that year he engaged in the fancy goods business in Marblehead, Mass.; and a year later he established a business of the same kind in Portsmouth, N. H. This venture proved successful, and he was engaged in trade until 1895. In April of that year he was appointed Deputy Sheriff, and two years later he was elected sheriff, a position he held for twelve years. He was married in 1870 to Josephine B. Griswold, a native of Granby, Conn., daughter of George Griswold, and a direct descendant, through his son George, of the Colonial Governor, Griswold of Connecticut. Mrs. Collis died in 1884 leaving two children, Grace and George L. Grace is the wife of Clifton S. Humphrey of Madison, Me. A staunch Republican in politics.

Mr. Collis cast his first vote for Lincoln in 1864, under peculiar circumstances. He was at that time in a rebel prison; and an officer of the guard, informing the prisoners that it was election day in the North and that their were two candidates and two propositions, McClellan and peace or Lincoln and war, gave them an opportunity to vote, on the afternoon two sacks of beans and a box were brought in and it was explained that the ballot for McClellan was a bean, and when the vote was counted it was found to be overwhelming for Lincoln. A member of the Storer Post No. 1 Department of New Hampshire, Grand Army of the Republic, Mr. Collis has filled various offices. He was commander of the Post or three years, and was commander of the department of New Hampshire in 1885. He was a member of Thomas Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Palmer Mass., Washington chapter No. 3, Royal Arch Mason, De Witt Clinton Commandery, Knights Templars; Davenport Council, No. 6; and Piquetta Lodge No. 5, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, all of Portsmouth. Prominent as a Grand Army man, a business man and a public official he is widely known and highly esteemed in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Former Sheriff and Prominent Grand Army Man Passes Away.

Last night at 11.15 o'clock, one of our most respected citizens and public officials passed to the great beyond in the person of Marcus Collis, former sheriff of Rockingham county, prominent Grand Army man, and splendid type of patriotic citizen. Mr. Collis who had reached the age of 68 years, died at his home on Washington street. He was born Oct. 19, 1843, at Ware, Mass. and served his country loyally during the Civil war. He leaves behind to mourn his loss, one son, George E., of this city, and one daughter, Mrs. Clifton Humphreys, of Manchester, Mass. One brother and three sisters also survive him. Marcus Morton Collis was born in Ware, Mass. October, 19, 1843, the son of Luther and Delina Converse Collis. He received his early education in the public schools of Palmer. His school days were interrupted by the breaking out of the war of the Rebellion; for he left his books to shoulder the musket and knapsack enlisting in July, 1861 in Company H, Seventy-first Regiment of Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry. The Seventy-first was one of the fighting regiments of the war, participating in many of the severest engagements, the first being Reamoke Island, N. C. February 8, 1862, where, by capturing a rebel battery by storm, it established a reputation for gallantry which was maintained to the end of that long conflict. At Newbern, N. C., March 14, 1862, it was the first body of Union troops to place the rebellion. It fought at Camden, N. C. April 19, 1862; Bell's Run second, Va., August 29, 1862, being in Reno's division of the Ninth Corps, the last of his regiment at one time in the troops to leave that ill-fated field; Chantilly, Va., Sept. 1, 1862 when its loss amounted to thirty-five per cent of the number engaged; South Mountain, Md., Sept. 14, 1862; at Antietam, Md., Sept. 17, 1862, where the bridge of which it was a part, charged and carried the stone bridge on Union left, which was one of the keys of the rebel position; Fredericksburg, Va., Dec. 13, 1862, after which it went west where in 1863, after fighting guerrillas in Kentucky, it took active part in Burnside's severe campaign in East Tennessee, being engaged at Blue Springs, Loudon Bridge, Campbell's Station, Siege of Knoxville, and Bulls Gap. December, 25, 1863 at the close of the campaign, while in business at Blaine's Cross Roads, barefoot, ragged and receiving for daily rations one ear of corn per man, it reenlisted almost to a man for three years more or during the war, returning to the Eastern Army in the spring of 1864, and participating in all the movements and severe fighting of Grant's victorious campaign from the wilderness to Appomattox, a remnant of sixty-two men being present at Lee's surrender in 1865. Mr. Collis was a part of all this being with his command continuously until the opening of Grant's 1864 campaign, when he started on a more direct line towards the heart of the Confederacy as a prisoner of war, being taken by the rebels while reconnoitering their position at Wilderness, Va., May 6, 1864. Was confined at Danville, Va., for a few days, then at Andersonville, Ga. till late in the fall of 1864, when transferred to Florence, S. C. There were twelve of his regiment at one time in the

SILHOUETTE MAKING.

In Early Days Was the Cheap Way of Retaining a Likeness.

In these days of photography says The Tattler in the Somersworth Free Press, with its wonderful possibilities of producing not only lights and shadows but also the true colors of life, there is not much likelihood that the old-time method of silhouette-making will ever come into favor again except, perhaps, as the fad of an hour. Almost every old home contains some of these old silhouettes, made many years ago. They were the inexpensive method of reproducing the profile in those days, corresponding in comparative price at least, to the tin-type of today. Not everybody in those old times could afford to have a portrait painted, but the silhouette was more generally available from its smaller cost. Not very satisfactory is such a reproduction of the profile in giving one an idea as to a person's facial characteristics, but it has the merit of concealing blemishes, which is something a writer refers to William King, "Taker of Profile Likenesses," who made several business visits to Portsmouth in the year 1805, and who claimed to have taken over eight thousand in Salem, Newburyport and adjoining towns. Mr. King called himself a "physiognotrace," which shows that the ability to coin new words early began to develop in this country. The following is his advertisement published in the New Hampshire Gazette, Portsmouth, of the date of February 26, 1805:

William King,
Physiognotrace,

Respectfully informs the ladies and gentlemen of Portsmouth, that he has taken a room at Mr. William Gray's Boarding House in High street—where he purposes staying a short time to take

Some of Wisconsin's Gridiron Warriors Who Expect to Make Minnesota Go Some to Win Conference Title

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7.—"Keep an eye on the Wisconsin this season," say the experts here. The Badgers have a powerful eleven—in fact, one of the strongest that ever represented the university on the gridiron. Wisconsin has lost but few veterans since last year, and Coach Richards has a prominent bunch of young hopefuls under his tutelage. With good coaching the Cardinal warriors should make Minnesota go some to win the western conference title. Much this year are Gillette, left end; Pierce, right guard; Hoefel, right tackle; Badgers' quarterback. According to Coach Richards he should win many games with his toe and incidentally carry off the honors as the greatest Badgers' later games.

The correctness of his PROFILES is well known, he having taken over eight thousand in Salem, Newburyport, and the adjoining towns; and from them he has selected a few specimens that may be seen at his room—where he has for sale Elegant Frames, oval round and square, either gilt or black, and the profiles handsomely framed at a most moderate price—he has also for sale Correct reduced profiles of the President of the United States.

His price is 25 cents for two profiles of one person, and the hours of attendance are from nine o'clock in the morning till nine in the evening. Portsmouth, February 26.

A NEW ENGLAND EXPOSITION

What is unquestionably the greatest exposition of New England made products ever shown, was opened in Mechanics Building, Boston, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock where it will remain until Oct. 28.

In the presence of several hundred guests the formal opening was conducted soon after the doors were opened to the public. Congratulatory addresses were made by noted men, and the committees who have worked to bring about this successful movement for publicity for New England were loud in their praise of the commercial organization throughout New England and the hearty interest they have given to the work.

Thousands of persons thronged the spacious building to take advantage of this rare opportunity of seeing just what New England stand for in the great scheme of modern industry. This exposition is outstanding in its revelation of New England resources, and must result in tremendous benefit to New England industries of every nature, in each of the six states represented.

Every conceivable article which has to do with the physical well being of and individual and is on exhibition here. There are exhibits every important article which comes from the mills and factories, the shoe, wool, cotton, and manufactures.

Methods of farming and the handling of dairy products are given special attention, and, incidentally, there is a model farm, with horses, cows and pigs, showing the sanitary conditions which are being inaugurated on New England farms.

The declared purposes of this Exposition are:

First to show what New England is, and to give to New Englanders a general idea of the basis of our prosperity and strength.

Second, to show each of us what our neighbors are doing, and how we can improve and develop the work in which we are engaged.

Third to encourage new endeavors and enterprises, suggest new opportunities, and show what has been done to provide facilities for industrial education and continuous improvement in methods, which must be the basis for the maintenance of our business standing and position, individually and collectively.

No one can go through this exposition without increasing his appreciation, and pride, in the fact that it means something to be a New Englander: it is the greatest event ever held in any one locality of the country, and will be in reality as far reaching and interesting as any of the international expositions. Far above and away outside of the educational features, the show is of great interest and should attract the general public as there is so much of general interest that it appeals to all as the greatest Exposition ever held in Mechanics Building. Food products as well as manufacturing, ladies' apparel and house furnishings, good music and art, all entertained in one great exhibit of practically everything pertaining to our every day life.

TIMELY HINTS FOR FARMERS

The Best Grafting Wax.

Rosin, four parts (ounces or pounds); beeswax, two parts; tallow, one part, melted slowly in an iron vessel, putting in the rosin five or ten minutes before the beeswax; and all completely mixed together by much stirring. In twenty minutes or so it will be thoroughly mixed, and a convenient portion is to be poured into a bucket of cold water. In a minute or less it will be cool enough to take up with the hands (which must be greased with tallow) and pulled like taffy. When it becomes light-yellow in color it is done and can be made into sticks or balls and put into another vessel of cold water to harden.

Other portions may be treated in the same way until all is used up. These ball-sticks of conventional size can be laid away until required for use.—Baltimore American.

Sheepfold Notes.

Sheep are comfort lovers, and the man who neglects to provide them with good dry shelter makes a costly error. It is the gains that the lambs make during the fall that determine the feeder's profit.

No female can expect to transmit to her offspring better qualities than she possesses herself unless she is mated with a sire with greater propensity. Do not go into sheep breeding. Grow into it. Begin in a small way. You will find many unexpected problems constantly coming up, and if you go into it largely at first you will find a great deal of trouble and disappointment. There is much that has to be learned by long and thoughtful experience.

The Raspberry Patch.

The best time to remove the old canes is as soon as the crop has been gathered. Often they are left to die down and are cut out in the winter. This is a mistake. If removed as above they leave the young canes, which will fruit next year, more space, light and air in which to develop and ripen. The best manner for raspberries is undoubtedly farrowed or stable manure, spread it during the winter, or better, in the early spring, and leave it there to rot and keep the fibrous roots near the surface cool and moist. Raspberries depend largely on surface roots, so do not dig more than necessary near the canes.

Patience in Training Colt.

Don't expect a colt to respond readily to every pull of the lines, but first let him become accustomed to the new order of things. He isn't used to a piece of iron in his mouth, nor does he understand why he should turn his head first one way, then another.

CULLING TURKEYS FOR THE MARKET

Fattening Process Should Begin Gradually.

It is time to decide which turkeys are to be fattened for market. It is not always the large bird that is desired—in fact, it is the short, plump, fat turkey that brings the best price.

The turkeys are to be put in good condition and made fat during the next eight or ten weeks, and it will take nearly all of that time to do so without forcing them too fast. Most flocks have been allowed on the range, but the nights are getting chilly and damp, and they should be brought up at sunset and housed comfortably after having been given a good meal on which to gain flesh and fat at night.

They should be fed slowly and sparingly and gradually at first and then may be given all they can eat of ground meat, homestead corn, wheat or anything they will consume. They should be fed heavily and given plenty of water in conjunction with their food.

A good fat turkey will bring in a large profit during the holidays, but the fattening and forcing cannot be done in a few days. The turkeys should be assorted and penned according to their size and condition and then fed and cared for accordingly until ready for market.

Usual Symptoms of Worms.

The mysterious actions of a horse which whirrs and bites itself savagely are due undoubtedly to the presence of worms in unusual numbers. The rubbing of the tail is another symptom. A wise course of treatment is to give a pint of raw oil or four drams of aloes in a ball. After it has ceased to act give a vermifuge.

Matter of Breed Not Vital.

Any breed of chickens will do on the farm, but it is not a good plan to have several breeds around. Males changed once a year is a good plan. Mated with lively hens they give pleasing results.

Grease the Farm Tools.

Oil is cheaper than rust. That is just a hint to keep all bearing parts and rustable surfaces of farm tools and machinery well oiled. Better oil that mental machinery occasionally too!

A STRIKE ON CLEARING RUINS

Laborers Demand Eight Hour Day Even When Hunting For Dead.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 6.—At relief headquarters it was stated today that 200 men quit work at Costello demanding an eight-hour day instead of ten hours that they have been working. It was asserted that the men were being paid $1.75 a day. Mounted troopers were sent down to Costello, also a paymaster to pay what wages are due the men, when they will be ordered out of town. To avert any possible conflict new men will not be put to work until the strikers are out of the community, their going being somewhat accelerated by the State constabulary. Later in the day new men 100 of whom arrived last night, will replace the strikers.

Before another twenty-four hours, it is expected that a temporary electric light plant will have been established on the flats where once stood the greater portion of the village. With this plant in operation the clearing of the wreckage will be pushed forward night and day. Several hundred picks and shovels were on hand this morning with blocks and tackle, having been shipped in from Boston. The dead recovered to date number fifty, with about twenty-five more to be accounted for, according to the more or less accurate census by which the casualties are checked off. The Pennsylvania railroad has sent out a circular to all its representatives and agents to accept and forward without charge all roads offered them and directed or consigned to the relief committee at Austin. The circular specifies that not only does this refer to food supplies and clothing but everything that can be used for the relief of the stricken people, including road.

The State Water Supply Commission will have further careful inquiry made into the causes of the breaking of the dam and will recommend legislation to give it full authority over all dams in the State, existing or to be built.

The Commission made public the report of Chief Engineer Farley Ganwell on the dam, which set forth that the capacity was 350,000,000 gallons and that "since January, 1910, when part of the structure slid, the dam had never been filled to the spillway level until Sept. 30, 1911, when it failed." The engineer finds the structure broke into eight major pieces. In regard to the break he says: "A witness states that the water was coming over the spillway (gauge reader states seven inches) and also leaking through the dam at numerous points, when suddenly pieces numbers 2 and 3 blew out and the water surged through the opening, carrying them with it. Almost immediately thereafter the other blocks followed, moving from west to east in rapid succession. On account of the depth of water therein, it was impossible to determine the nature of the foundation and present condition thereof. The dam broke up nearly as can be ascertained about 2.20 p. m., and the water reached town probably in from five to fifteen minutes." No opinion is given as to the cause of the break.

RUN OVER BY WAGON

Marie, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Carlin of Newington, was run down by a delivery wagon in attempting to pass through Market street near the Woolworth store yesterday afternoon. Her left ankle was severely wrenched. She was treated by Dr. John J. Berry in his office on State street and then sent to her home. The girl became confused when running between two wagons. She turned to go in the opposite direction and so foot she put forward went beneath the rear wheel of the wagon.

Tripoli, Storm Center of Turko-Italian War, One of Most Colorful Spots on Southern Mediterranean Coast.

Tripoli, the capital of the province of that name over which Italy and Turkey are at war, is one of the most colorful spots remaining on the southern Mediterranean coast, embodying all of the oriental beauty of the past. The city has numerous palm groves and gardens. One of its principal curiosities is a large negro settlement inhabited by blacks from beyond the Sahara, who have constructed homes of mud in the manner of their own country.

NOT HOPELESS.
Nothing is more to be deplored than the faithlessness of those in high places who assume that under no condition can a liar tell the truth, a gambler seek to yield to honest impulses or a bad man desire to reconstruct his life. Recent tendencies in the United States senate would seem to ignore all presumptive evidence, to deny the conviction of an overwhelming majority of the better citizens, to the assumption that a man who has accepted graft must be forever denied a hearing, his testimony always be discredited, while he of all men should know what he is speaking about, and because he is human justifies the presumption that under conditions he may speak the truth, under provocation he may serve righteousness. Anyhow, no man's depravity is so great as to vilify and destroy the conviction that there are those who hunger and thirst after righteousness, corporate as well as in their individual capacity.—Jenkin Lloyd Jones.

GOOD SOUND DOCTRINE
We refuse to believe that the insurgents are going to run the Republican national convention. Right there is the fight. If they do not they are going to line up with the Democrats and give them the victory. They are to all intents and purposes Democrats. It will be a wholesome movement, resulting in one term of Democratic rule, but not more, and at least twelve years of Republican prosperity following.—Granite State Free Press.

The above from our brother on the lake, hits the nail square on the head. New Hampshire will either see the insurgents back in the ranks or in the Democratic party.

In the death of M. M. Collis chronicled in another column, Portsmouth has lost a distinguished citizen and a soldier. Mr. Collis was a man of excellent character and had brought credit of his home city in every position. He was a credit to Portsmouth and his loss will be felt.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES
Somebody Blundered.
Somebody blundered. We know not who. Somebody forgot to send Richard Harding Davis word that the Italians were about to take Tripoli. You remember that when Mendoza in "Soldiers of Fortune" threatened that the treaty between Olancha and the American company was likely to be broken, Clay cried: "Try to break that treaty! Try it! and I'll have a man-of-war down here; a man-of-war with white paint on her hull that will blow you and your little republic back into the mountains."
Sad to relate, there were no such picturesque descriptions of the recent negotiations abroad. The cables simply informed us that Victor Emmanuel had informed the Sub-line Porto that unless it came to terms within 24 hours trouble would ensue.

Now, the trouble being in full blast, without the permission or the presence of the distinguished war correspondent who worked a battery of typewriters at San Juan Hill, it is up to him, in his capacity of deputy sheriff of Westchester County, in this State of New York to book passage on at least five steamers, cross the sea, arrest the combatants as disturbers of the peace and put them all in jail.—Boston Globe.

Silence the Muffler Cut-Out.
"Since the motor car has come into such general use and the early antagonism against it has so largely disappeared, it is most unfortunate that the use of the muffler cut-out is not prohibited by law in every city and heavy penalties provided for the violation of the statute or ordinance governing the subject."
This is the view of Sidney S. Gorham, of Chicago, author of the present Illinois automobile law, organizer of the Illinois State Automobile Association, and recognized as the leading expert in automobile law in the West. Mr. Gorham's practice has included almost every phase of automobile law and he couples with this a wide experience as a practical motorist.

"The muffler cut-out," Mr. Gorham continued, "is in a great measure responsible for the existing antagonism of the public against the motorist. As a practical motorist of ten years' experience, my opinion is that the muffler cut-out is not a necessity as a warning signal and should not be permitted."
"In many sections of the country, the subject of the regulation of warning signals is being considered by the various legislative bodies and on this subject experience has left no room for experiment. The adequate warning signal must have a harsh, abrupt note, that gives the impression of imminent danger. A warning signal is not a play toy. It has a serious mission, and I believe it unwise to use a warning signal any device which lacks the harshness, the abrupt note that is immediately recognized as a warning of danger."

"Emergencies sometimes arise, especially in cities through no fault of the driver of the motor car which to avoid serious injury, call for immediate action, not only by the motorist but by the person or persons in danger. The unnecessary use of the signal warning lessens its effectiveness at just such times, as is aptly illustrated by the fable of the boy who cried 'Wolf, Wolf!' when no wolf was near, and when the wolf really did come and he called for help, no one responded, and the wolf devoured him."

"Chicago has very properly taken the position that it shall be unlawful for any motorist to make or cause to be made loud or unnecessary noise with the bell, horn or any other signal device with which his car is equipped, or to use the same except as a warning or danger."
"It is not so much the character of the warning signal as its unnecessary use which is objectionable. That the use of an adequate warning signal upon motor cars is a necessity is almost universally recognized and indeed, required by law in Illinois and nearly all of the United States. That this signal should be capable of producing a sufficient volume of sound to be heard under all circumstances is equally necessary, and that the bulb horn is both undependable and so feeble in sound that the rattle of surrounding traffic frequently

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS
With the need of tenement houses and dwellings becoming more apparent the real estate business has become a popular venture. As a consequence the number of conveyances is far in excess of the transfers usually recorded in the autumn season. The majority of transfers is made with the purpose of acquiring rentable property. Charles M. Rand of Rye, who already has five cottages in the course of construction, has purchased from F. W. Hartford about 20,000 feet of land in the south side of Lincoln avenue, at the junction of Park street. Mr. Rand announces his intention of erecting four cottages on the land.
J. # FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Gleanings From Files of Portsmouth Chronicle

A schooner which arrived at her wharf in this city, one night last week, with a cargo of corn and flour, etc., and was left apparently all right, was found the next morning to have several feet of water in her hold, much to the damage of the freight. surprise party by sixteen of her young friends on Friday evening. The party was planned by some of Miss Akerman's school associates in the freshman class at the high school and it was kept a complete secret from Miss Akerman.
As soon as she recovered from her astonishment at finding sixteen of her young friends comfortably seated in her home, she was presented with a party. A delightful evening was spent in games and refreshments were served.

POULTRY AT LOW LEVEL

Chicken and turkeys reached low price levels yesterday in the Boston market, far lower than October, 1910. Roasting chickens raised in the state, with the guarantee that they were raised recently were sold at 25 cents a pound. Western birds were sold at 22 cents a pound.

Turkeys at 30 to 33 cents a pound in the market district stalls were quickly gobbled up yesterday afternoon by bargain hunters. Geese and ducks were good in quality and reasonable in price.

Purchases of poultry were so numerous yesterday that it was predicted the low prices would not last long. The city had an oversupply yesterday owing to a competition among Middlesex and Worcester county farmers to get their birds on the market early. Whether they will have many turkeys left about Thanksgiving time was questioned.

A few flocks from Maine reached the markets yesterday. A few were sold but under such varying conditions that no prices were quotable.

With vegetables and meat maintaining a price reasonably high many shoppers yesterday afternoon who intended to bring home those products were seen making their way to Adams square with a fowl under their arms and a box of crackers for dressing.—Boston Post.

WANTS BOSTON MEN AT WATERWAY

Mayor Fitzgerald yesterday said that he would confer with the officials of the chamber of commerce relative to requesting a delegation of business men to attend the Atlantic Deep Waterways Association convention at Richmond Va., from Oct. 17 to 20.

"It is surprising how little interest Boston business men take in matters of this nature," said the mayor. "For the past two years I have been the only representative of the city at the waterways conventions, and it is because that I fear that I cannot spare the time that I am determined that the chamber of commerce or some other business organization shall take up the matter and send men there."

Both Mayor Fitzgerald and Gov. Foss are greatly interested in extending the Atlantic coast canal to Boston to Maine through New Hampshire and have recently written Mr. O. L. Friess, vice president of the Atlantic Deep Waterway Association to co-operate with them at the waterway convention at Richmond in the movement of extending the Maine.

Mr. Friess pushed the resolution through the Providence waterway convention last year to extend the canal to Maine and is looked upon as the pioneer in the project.

The Observer.
That Portsmouth is going to have a club for the proper entertainment of the visiting officers of the army navy appears to be practically settled. The club if the promoters class plan by the members of the mistake not will prove the means of aiding Portsmouth in many ways. It will be the home of the live business and professional men of the city—thoroughly alive for Portsmouth's future and a headquarters for the many prominent summer visitors living within a radius of fifteen miles.

Work is progressing finely on the new bank building and it will add greatly to the beauty of the Square when it is completed. The local public would like to see one or two modern business blocks on Congress street in place of some of the old traps. Where is the live business man that will take advantage of Portsmouth's great future and put up some modern business buildings. Portsmouth must grow and some one must take an interest in finding the necessary aid to bring about a healthy growth.

There is no let up in the work of carpenters and other mechanics and the indications point to the busiest winter that Portsmouth has seen for many years. Besides all the new buildings under way there are prospects of at least a dozen more. Remodeling is also planned in a number of local business blocks.

The Eagles are putting on some good work and the indications are that they will have a grand success for their fair. The members have worked hard and they deserve success. The boys are going to give the public their money's worth and the entertainment provided will surely please. The big halls will be a blaze of light.

KITTERY LETTER

Kittery, Oct. 7.

Rev. A. J. Hayes of the Boston University Theological school will preach at the Second Methodist church tomorrow at 10.30 and at vespers at 6.00. It is expected that he will be retained as permanent pastor. Mr. Hayes is from the west and was much liked by his hearers last Sunday. Other services at this church for the day are Sunday school at 12, U. G. Swett, superintendent, vespers at 5, with short sermon and special music. Meeting of the Epworth League at 6, topic for the day being "The Christian's Emancipation." Leader James Plaisted. Everybody cordially invited to any and all services at this church.

At the Second Christian church on Sunday Rev. Mr. Churchill of Kittery Point Free Baptist church will supply in the morning at 10.30. Sunday school at noon, Mervin G. Ford, superintendent. Christian Endeavor meeting at 6; topic for the day, "New Work our Society Might Do," leader Mrs. Leslie Williams. There will probably be no service at 7 o'clock. Prayer meeting as usual in the vestry on Tuesday evening. Everybody welcome to this church at any of the meetings.

Orthodox services and Sunday school on Sunday at the usual hours at Grange Hall.

The convention of York county Odd Fellows, which is to be held in Springvale October 20, judging from appearances at the present time, will be the largest gathering of any fraternity ever held in York county outside of Biddeford and Saco. The plan was originated in Friendship lodge in Springvale and all the lodges in the county, including Riverside of Kittery have been invited to participate. A parade will precede the meeting and Sanford Mills band has been engaged to furnish music and any of the other lodges have the privilege of bringing bands with them. A prize will be given to the visiting lodge bringing the largest number of members to participate in the parade. After the street parade there will be competitive degree work in the first degree between Laconia lodge of Biddeford, Olive branch lodge of South Berwick, Eagle lodge of North Berwick and Saco lodge of Saco. A prize will be given for the best team work. There will also be fireworks, speeches and receptions to the visiting orders and lunch will be served by the ladies of Ruhamah Rebekah lodge. Owing to the fact that it is almost impossible to make the trip from Kittery in such a way as to accommodate many of the local Odd Fellows, it is doubtful if Riverside Lodge is represented in a body.

Dirigo Encampment, I. O. O. F., met last evening, and plans for an entertainment for lodge members were talked over.

Thomas Plimpton, Jr., of Rogers road underwent an operation this morning for the removal of adenoids. The operation was performed by Dr. Luce, of Portsmouth.

Samuel Edwards has so far recovered from the effects of his recent operation as to be able to go out. He will soon return to his work.

Mrs. J. Edgar Barnham fell Thursday on some stone steps and was badly cut and otherwise injured. She is resting comfortably at her home on Woodlawn avenue, but it will be quite a number of days before she will be able to be about again.

There will be special services this evening at the North Kittery Methodist church. Rev. L. D. Holt, district

NO SALTS, OIL OR PILLS BUT CASCARETS

No Odds How Sick Your Stomach;
How Hard Your Head Aches or How Billious Cascarets Make You Feel Great

You men and women who somehow can't get feeling right—who have an almost daily headache, coated tongue, foul taste in and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascarets tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10 cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

A TURKISH GUNBOAT SUNK

Italians Cleaning Up Turkish Fleet in Red Sea—War Bulletins of Little Interest.

Rome, Oct. 6.—Provoked because she had been fired upon by the Turkish fort at Hodeidah, the Italian mining cruiser Aretusa attacked a Turkish gunboat and sank her.

Turkey having taken the offensive in the Red Sea, where Italy had intended to remain on the defensive, the Aretusa and the dispatch boat Saffetta and repair ship Volcano, all of which are armed, and the smaller war craft available, have been ordered to chase the few old gunboats that Turkey has in the Red Sea, and to attack the ports of Yemen, if necessary.

Berlin, Oct. 6.—A correspondent of the Wolff Bureau, telegraphing from Dohbat on the Tunisian frontier, under yesterday's date, says:

"Six soldiers and six Jews were killed and five soldiers and one Jew wounded during the bombardment of Tripoli.

"The Europeans, of whom there are still 4,000 in Tripoli, were unharmed. The house of the interpreter of the German Consulate was badly damaged, but the shells from the Italian fleet did comparatively slight damage in the city.

"The Moslems remained passive during the bombardment."

Cologne, Germany, Oct. 6.—The Cologne Gazette correspondent at Constantinople reports that the German Embassy there is urging forbearance on the part of the Turkish Government in the matter of the expulsion of Italians.

Constantinople, Oct. 6.—The Bulgarian Minister today conveyed to the Porte the assurance of the neutrality of Bulgaria, and also denied the report of a military mobilization in the kingdom.

The Government originally intended to entrust the protection of Turkey in Italy to the United States, but abandoned the plan, leaving this matter to Germany.

TROOPS HOLD TRIPOLI CITY.
Italians Establish a New Government—Arab Tribes in Suburbs Give Their Submission.

Tripoli, Oct. 6.—The Italians have established a new government for Tripoli. Rear Admiral Boreadollini has been appointed governor. Capt. Calvi was made commandant of the forces disembarked by the Italian fleet.

After Italian seamen had been landed and occupied Fort Sultania, the chiefs of the Arab tribes adjacent to Tripoli went aboard the Italian flagship and gave their submission. They begged the Italians not to resume the bombardment.

The German Consul, as the senior member of the Consular Corps, also visited the flagship and asked Vice Admiral Paravilla to assume responsibility for the preservation of public order and the protection of foreign residents in Tripoli, which had been abandoned by the Turkish troops. The admiral landed other detachments of sailors with guns, including quick-firing pieces, and occupied Tripoli in a military sense.

This was accomplished without incident, and the appointment of a governor followed. The German Consul informed Vice Admiral Paravilla that during the shelling of the town no harm had been done to any European or damage to the property of Europeans.

HODEIDAH FORT FIRED.

Vainly Tried to Hit Italian Cruiser in the Red Sea Aretusa Replied With Her Guns.

Massawa, Eritrea Africa, Oct. 6.—The fort at Hodeidah, a seaport of Arabia, fired many shots at the Italian mining cruiser Aretusa, which was cruising in the Red Sea to protect Italian commerce.

The shots were without effect. The Aretusa replied with her guns.

TURKS SEIZE BRITISH SHIP.

Steamer Orchis Taken to Saloniki as a Prize Because She Had 40 Barrels of Gunpowder.

Saloniki, European Turkey, Oct. 6.—The Turkish battleship Peth-i-Burund held up and searched the British steamship Orchis, and finding 40 barrels of powder on board brought the vessel here as a prize of war.

London, Oct. 6.—The steamship Orchis, seized by the Turks, was bound from Smyrna for Constantinople and her owners here cannot understand why she was taken, so long as she was not going to an Italian port.

MEDIATION NOT ACCEPTABLE.

Crack Southpaw Pitchers of the Athletics and Giants Who May Figure in Coming World's Series

New York, Oct. 6.—Although Mathewson of the Giants and Bender and Coombs of the Athletics, the three great right hand twirlers of the two teams, are spoken of as men who will bear the brunt of the twirling in the coming world's series, many baseball experts here believe that southpaws will have something to say where the championship shall go. Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics recently stated that he intended to use Eddie Plank, his star left hander and passably Harry Krause, Giants. It is a well known fact that the New York batters have had considerable trouble with left hand pitchers this season. So Mack figures he has an ace in the hole. McGraw will surely use Rube Marquard, his big southpaw against the Athletics. Rube is in good shape, and his teammates say he will stand the Philadelphia hitters on their heads. McGraw may also use his veteran side wheeler George Wilse in the series. Wilse recently threw a fine article of ball against Pittsburgh. Judging from the present outlook, it appears that the star right hand pitchers will not carry off all the honors in the world series.

ians landed marines at Tripoli it is understood here that mediation will not be acceptable before the city has been occupied by the expedition from Italy, the first ship of which is due to sail for Tripoli tomorrow.

Germany, in the meantime, is endeavoring to restrain Turkey from taking any measures that might lessen the hope of successful mediation and has induced Turkey to withdraw the prohibition against the furnishing of coal for private steamships. This had seriously inconvenienced international shipping.

ASKS $129,000,000 FOR NAVY FOR YEAR
SECRETARY MEYER HAS PREPARED HIS ESTIMATES FOR CONGRESS

Washington, Oct. 6.—It will cost around $129,000,000 to maintain the United States navy and to provide for suitable increase during the next fiscal year according to estimates just completed by Secretary Meyer. This includes a provision for two super-dreadnoughts, probably of about the size of the projected Nevada and Oklahoma, which will displace about 28,000 tons, and a suitable number of auxiliaries.

This figure marks low water in the retrenchment policy of the administration so far as the navy is concerned. The estimates are the same as the appropriations for the current fiscal year. These appropriations were $5,000,000 less than the estimates for the preceding year, and these in turn were $10,000,000 less than the estimates of the fiscal year 1908-9 which was the last year of the Roosevelt administration. It is believed by Secretary Meyer that the present estimates therefore have brought the expenditures on account of the navy down to the lowest point consistent with its health, development and maintenance.

Origin of "Plagiarist."

One who appropriates—that is, steals—the literary work of another to use it as his own thought, the child of his own brain, is guilty of plagiarism, as everybody knows, yet few are acquainted with the derivation of the word or know that the plagiarist is literally a child stealer. Among a certain class of criminals in Rome in the time of the earlier Caesars, there existed the damnable custom of stealing children and selling them as slaves. According to Roman law, the child stealers, when detected, received as a part of the penalty for their crime, a severe flogging. As the Latin word plaga signifies a stripe or lash, the ancient kidnappers were termed "plagiarist"—that is, deserving of stripes. So both the crime and the criminals received their names from the castigation inflicted.

The Coup de Monserrat.

The history of the sword stroke the Parisian fencers call the "coup de Monserrat" is romantic. The hero of the story was a young Parisian musician engaged to be married to a young lady of Bordeaux. Quarreling with a cousin of his fiancée, he got his ears boxed at the Bordeaux club. Ignorant of fencing, he dared not resent the insult and renounced his engagement. But he also took fencing lessons from one Monserrat, a maître d'armes of Toulouse. Monserrat taught him one trick only, and he practiced it for a year. At the end of that time he returned to the Bordeaux club, slapped his man's face and, being called out, instantly ran his opponent through the body with his cunning lunge.

Grease Versus Gravity.

A professor in Yale university delights in telling of his experience with an inventor of the unlettered genius type who came to the professor with a model of a perpetual motion machine.

"I'm looks plausible," observed the professor, "but it won't work. What are you going to do about gravity?"

"Gravity!" said the visitor scornfully. "Telt wit' gravity; we'll use plenty of grease!"—Cosmopolitan.

DEATH OF A PIONEER STAGE COACH DRIVER

THEODORE KEEN OF KITTERY POINT IS NO MORE.

One of the old time citizens of Kittery Point died Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, when Theodore Keen passed away, at his residence in that place. He is survived by his wife, one son, one daughter, and several near relatives. Mr. Keen was the master of the old stage coach which plied between Portsmouth and Dover in the old days and was much respected by all who knew him. He was a member of St. John's Lodge of Masons, joining that body in the year 1866. He was born on Dec. 17, 1836, and had lived in this vicinity practically all his life. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

PICKPOCKETS AT WORK

Citizen Relieved of $100 at the Depot

Two men both strangers, had hard luck here today. One of the two, Charles H. Sandner of Lakeport, believes he was touched for $50. He told the police that while getting off a train in the depot with his wife there was quite a jam of passengers and he was pushed about by somebody in the crowd.

He paid no attention to the push and pull game at the time but later when he got on the street he found that his purse was missing and he was absolutely broke. The police have since been trying to get a line on the case. The other unfortunate gave his name to the police as John Channell, nearly seventy years of age, who was shy just an even hundred. He had previously drawn this amount from the Piscataqua Savings Bank and the money had hardly got warm in his pocket before it was gone.

Mr. Channell could not say how it disappeared. He told the police that he might have dropped it or that some light fingered artist might have plucked it.
